

Baby Ballet

A little girl feels invincible

In pink canvas slippers.

Fluttering across the Church function room

She discovers religion for herself:

Aged six.

Others perceive a costume

Where there is a suit of Armour.

Twirling in a lilac tulle skirt

Is the purest form of passion.

She exists exactly as she should.

In that moment, she understands faith.