

Forbidden art

One grey, rainy morning in a town called Heart where art was forbidden, Leah was creating her new magical piece of wonder. Art was not allowed here because a long time ago a great artist built the world famous engine house named meadow. it made all of Hearts' people charge to her but this made Heart too busy so art was forbidden. One day the Major of Heart found out Leah was creating art so he took away all of her paint brushes and paints that she had been using. Leah was so depressed that he had taken her art supplies that she burst into tears. Then a little boy called Josh walked by and noticed that she was upset. He asked her what was the matter. Leah told him what had happened and Josh thought it was unfair as he also loved art, so he came up with a plan to take her to his Aunt's shop, where all sorts of wonderful art supplies were sold. Nobody knew about it except for Josh and the other secret art makers. When they arrived Leah was amazed by the curious shop which was gloomy but pretty at the same time. Leah chose neon paints, an assortment of brushes, acrylic markers, a stationary set and a big canvas. Leah got to work, creating an amazing painting of Heart's town. Leah was so passionate about her painting and she wanted all the townsfolk to see it. She took it to the old art museum but when she got there she discovered that it was burnt down. Together she and Josh built a new amazing art museum. It was hard work but they got it done. The Major heard about the new museum from a local villager so he went to visit. When he arrived he could feel how connected people were because of Leah's art. He made a speech to announce that art would never be forbidden in Heart again.
